Contents

Preface xi

Acknowledgments xv

Chapter 1. What's So Good About Majority Rule? 1
The Mayor of Stickeyville 1
Anonymity, Neutrality, and Monotonicity 3
Majority Rule and May's Theorem 5
Quota Systems 6
Back to May's Theorem 8
Questions for Further Study 10
Answers to Starred Questions 12

Chapter 2. Le Pen, Nader, and Other Inconveniences 15
The Plurality Method 17
Preference Orders 20
Back to Borda 22
May's Theorem Revisited 23
Questions for Further Study 25
Answers to Starred Questions 30

Chapter 3. Back into the Ring 35
Condorcet Winners and Losers 37
Sequential Pairwise Voting 40
Instant Runoff 45
Putting It All Together 47
Questions for Further Study 48
Answers to Starred Questions 51

Chapter 4. Trouble in Democracy 55
Independence of Irrelevant Alternatives 56
Arrow's Theorem 60

Pareto's Unanimity Condition 65
Concluding Remarks 67
Questions for Further Study 67
Answers to Starred Questions 71

Chapter 5. Explaining the Impossible 73
Proving Arrow's Theorem 74
Potential Solutions 81
Concluding Remarks 87
Questions for Further Study 88
Answers to Starred Questions 90

Chapter 6. Gaming the System 95
Strategic Voting 96
The Gibbard-Satterthwaite Theorem 97
Proving the Gibbard-Satterthwaite Theorem 99
Concluding Remarks 105
Questions for Further Study 106
Answers to Starred Questions 107

Chapter 7. One Person, One Vote? 111
Weighted Voting Systems 112
Dictators, Dummies, and Veto Power 115
Swap Robustness 116
Trade Robustness 119
Questions for Further Study 122
Answers to Starred Questions 124

Chapter 8. Calculating Corruption 127
The Banzhaf Power Index 128
The Shapley-Shubik Power Index 131
Banzhaf Power in Psykozia 135
A Splash of Combinatorics 137
Shapley-Shubik Power in Psykozia 140
Questions for Further Study 141
Answers to Starred Questions 145

Chapter 9. The Ultimate College Experience 149
The Electoral College 150
The Winner-Take-All Rule 152
Some History 154
Power in the Electoral College 155
Swing Votes and Perverse Outcomes 159
Alternatives to the Electoral College 163
Questions for Further Study 164
Answers to Starred Questions 168

Chapter 10. Trouble in Direct Democracy 169
Even More Trouble 171
The Separability Problem 172
Binary Preference Matrices 175
Testing for Separability 175
Some Potential Solutions 179
Questions for Further Study 185
Answers to Starred Questions 188

Chapter 11. Proportional (Mis)representation 191
The U.S. House of Representatives 192
Hamilton's Apportionment Method 193
Jefferson's Apportionment Method 196
Webster's Apportionment Method 201
Three Apportionment Paradoxes 202
Hill's Apportionment Method 205
Another Impossibility Theorem 206
Concluding Remarks 208
Questions for Further Study 208
Answers to Starred Questions 211

Chapter 12. Choosing Your Voters 213
Gerrymandering 215
Rules for Redistricting 220
Geometry and Compactness 220
Partisan Symmetry 223
The Efficiency Gap 227
Concluding Remarks 229
Questions for Further Study 230
Answers to Starred Questions 232

Bibliography 235

Index 239